Detainee Last Name: Fuentes First Name: DavidID # 2007 -00-85000 Div.: 5 Living Unit: 2 E Date: 7 / 23 / 08

On May 14th, 2008 I received legal mail from the U.S. District Court House and a Cook County Jail officer other than my tier officer deliver this mail sealed to my cell door. He opened the legal mail envelope in front of me and left. This particular mail I received contained therein a Petition for leave to file and proceed in forma pauperis entered and docket with the U.S. STATES DISTRICT COURTHOUSE. Then on June 16th, 2008 officer Butler handed me a big yellow envelope coming from the U.S. District Court House that it was already open and officer Butler mention to me he need it to open in front of me, but he mustahingly didn't. The next morning I asked officer Butler if he opened the envelope the day before or if it came back open from the mail room, he responded he mistahingly opened it but that he didn't read it. This envelope it is my understanding is considered privilege mail and it contained therein a docket entry text disclosing confidential information that should only be a concern matter to the party that it was sent to. Then again I received yet another U.S. District Court House legal mail envelope that I received July 16th, 2008 that it also contained therein a docket entry text disclosing confidential information from my previously complaint under the civil right Act, title 42 Section 1983 U.S. Code. officer Almeida handed me this envelope open and unsealed. Cook County Jail officials should not open this privilege mail under any circumstances without the presence of the detainee and his signature upon receiving it. I feel my U.S. Constitutional right of freedom of speech U.S.C. Amendment 1 has been violated. Somebody needs to look upon this concern matter and change the procedures when handing out privilege mail.
